EXALTING CHRIST IN THE LIFE OF THE NATION

Memory Selection. For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given; and the government shall be upon his shoulder; and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace. Isaiah 9:6. Luke 1:26-30; Hebrews 1:1-4; 1 Peter 1:13-18, 22; Jude 24-25. Devotional Reading: Philippians 2:5-11.

The Text Explained With Comments

The Coming Era of Peace, Isaiah 9:6-7. The people of Isaiah who had been suffering adversely, as described in the preceding chapter 8:21, 22, have seen a great light, (walked) in synch with justice and righteousness is a metaphor for adversity; upon those who had been anticipating destruction the light had shone. Have seen, hath shining, in what is called the prophetic perfect tense; the light was yet to dawn, but so certain of it is the prophet that he speaks as though it had already come. In Mt. 4: 14-16 these words are declared fulfilled in Jesus. Isaiah speaks in these verses in general terms of the light of the new and glorious age shining upon that district which should be the first to suffer the affliction of conquest and captivity. When Christ, the true ruler of Righteousness, illumined that very same district, it was natural that Matthew should see the ultimate fulfillment of the prophecy which Isaiah, unconscious of the wonderful fulfillment which awaited his words, had uttered. (One Volume Commentary).

The Coming Prince of Peace, Isaiah 9:6, 7. For unto us of our own race of the house of David, a child shall be born. His name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace.

The ideal father whom Isaiah has been describing to be of the lineage of David and his kingdom is to be upheld with justice and righteousness for ever. This expectation was not fulfilled by any king who ever sat on the throne of David. In the literal sense it was not fulfilled by Jesus. He fulfilled not this nor any other definite prediction; but he fulfilled the grand prophetic thought that underlay them all; and as the supreme Manifestation of the Divine in the human, he became the perfect Saviour of universal humanity. As for Isaiah, he must still be counted a prophet, because his teaching, though imperfect, was in line with what now appears to have been the divine purpose, and therefore calculated to prepare his people for all the blessings of the ideal covenant, and finally for the advent of the Incarnate Redeemer" (Mitchell).

LEGEND OF SILK

Next to wool, silk is the most important of animal products used in weaving. In all probability it was in China that attention was first drawn to the rearing of silk-worms and the manufacture of silk. Chinese history or legend ascribes to Si-ling-shih the honor of having discovered the art of spinning and weaving silk. She lived about 2700 B.C., and for her discovery she was revered as a saint.

WEEKLY RATION FASHION for a twosome

SUN.	MON.	TUES.	WED.	THUR.	FRI.	SAT.
Meat Ring	Lamb Chops	Eggs a la king	Veal Cutlets	Steak and Kidney Pie	Fish	Sausages
Group C 3/4 lb. 3 tokens	Group C 1/2 lb. 2 tokens	unrationed	Group B 1/2 lb. 3 tokens	Group B 6 oz. 2 tokens	unrationed	Group D 1 lb. 3 tokens

3 tokens for lunch problems or next week's roast.

Menu planning need not be fog-bound by meat rationing. Within the bounds of a twosome's weekly ration there is much scope for gastronomic enjoyment and satisfaction. In planning the purchases it will be found useful to translate the ration in terms of tokens, eight of which are equivalent to the coupon available to each person weekly. With hospitality a week-end key-note, an extender dish is suggested as ration economy for Sunday's dinner guests. A meat loaf can be tastefully made from 8 1/2 lb. hamburger with added egg, bread crumbs and suitable seasonings. To give the old friend a new guise, bake it in a ring mould, turn out on serving platter and vegetable-fill the centre. Lamb chops make delectable eating for two tokens on Monday. And eggs are suggested as the basis for Tuesday's protein dish. Hard cooked eggs combined with fresh mushrooms, now market-plentiful, and a good cream sauce, served on a mould of hot noodles is indeed a real dish which only needs to be rounded out with a green or yellow vegetable for eye appeal and nutritive satisfaction. Wednesday's veal cutlets will bring you to the middle of the week with half your ration still intact. For Thursday two tokens worth of round steak supplemented with unrationed kidney will provide the makings for a steak and kidney pie. And for a top with taste, add some celery seed to the pastry or biscuit dough. Friday is an opportunity day for fish to appear on the bill of fare. Three tokens are ration currency for one pound of sausages, a double duty purchase which will provide Saturday's dinner and glorify Sunday's breakfast. The week's expenditure of thirteen tokens will leave you with three as a contribution to luncheon problems or next week's small roast.

May Lose Its Fame

Scholar Thinks Gray's Elegy Not Written At Stoke Poges. Stoke Poges has had it. Until now everybody "knew" that Gray wrote his "Elegy in a Country Churchyard" in that Buckinghamshire village.

For generations students of English literature have been taught that it is the pretty churchyard at Stoke Poges that is immortalized in the "Elegy" and the poet himself, is buried there.

Now 17-year-old John Langford Lewis, of Merchant Taylors school at Slough, Bucks, has "discovered" that one of the poems at Stoke Poges, which it was there Gray heard the "curfew toll the knell of parting day." And his father, Harold Langford Lewis, a Lincoln Inn barrister, says there are three good reasons for believing that Gray wrote the elegy at Upton.

"There is no ivy mantled tower at Stoke, and Gray remarks in the Elegy on 'yonder ivy mantled tower'. The church at Upton is covered in ivy.

"The curfew was rung from Windor Castle, five miles from Stoke Poges, and the bells could not have been heard from there. Upton is a mile distant.

Gray mentions the "rude forefathers of the blant hamlet." Stoke was a village. Upton, though now absorbed into industrial Slough, was a small hamlet, said Mr. Lewis.

Spoken for Stoke Poges, the sexton's wife, says: "This is all nonsense. There was an ivy mantled tower, it was pulled down about 80 or 90 years ago, with the spire, because it was unsafe."

As for the curfew, she thinks Gray could have heard the bells "if he'd listened hard enough."

Farthest North

Newspaper Printed In Norway Above The Arctic Circle

Far above the Arctic Circle in the wester of charred ruins which was once the Norwegian village of Vads stands an insignificant hut. This is the editorial office, printing plant, and circulation department of the world's northernmost newspaper, the "Finnmarken". The editor explains that this is not only the most northerly newspaper plant in the world, but also Norway's smallest. He is careful to point out, however, that the 5,000 copies which are turned out twice weekly are possibly the world's best read news-sheets. The war in Northern Norway together with the complete destruction left that vast area without a single newspaper. Now that plant and material have been obtained from Sweden and England, boats touching at Vads are careful to carry reading matter for the news-hungry residents of Norway's Arctic coast. — Norwegian Information Service.

Ty Cobb, Jr., Shoots A Jack Miner Goose In Georgia. One of the late Jack Miner's most intimate friends was Tyrus R. Cobb. He has a son Ty, Jr., who is now a doctor in Georgia. For many summers Ty, Jr. spent his boyhood with the Miner family at the Kingsville Bird Sanctuary.

Now, Ty, Jr., has grown to manhood, married, has a family, and lives at Dublin, Georgia. One week ago, Ty was out hunting with a friend on a river which flows through the central part of Georgia, and out of a flock of thirty Canada geese he shot one, and on picking it up found it had a band on its leg which read: "Write Jack Miner, Kingsville, Ontario." The goose had been banded in the spring of 1945. The verse of scripture on the band was "Give unto the Lord," taken from the Twenty-ninth Psalm, first verse.

Terrible Threat

Bacteriological Warfare Is A Greater Menace To Mankind Than The Atomic Bomb

A new and terrible threat to the safety of mankind—surpassing even the atomic bomb as a danger—was reliably understood to lie behind the urgent desire of the United States, Britain and Canada to internationalize all scientific knowledge which might be used in warfare.

The new horror, described as more destructive and terrifying than the atomic bomb, is bacteriological warfare which reliable sources say has been developed to the point where it could play a major part in any new conflict.

It has been known to allied scientists that for the last 18 months or two years of the Second Great War, at least one power extended and perfected knowledge of lethal bacteriological research to a point where it ranks in the catalogue of impending "secret weapons" which soon will be ready for use in warfare.

It is not known what specific country is responsible for development of the new weapon but State Secretary Byrnes hinted openly at its terrible threat in a statement.

He declared: "There will be no protection against bacteriological warfare, even a more frightful method of human destruction than the atomic bomb."

His statement—coming from so responsible and informed a source—is of the utmost gravity, in light of the fact that Mr. Byrnes took part in the recent Anglo-American-Canadian atomic bomb and scientific warfare talks in Washington.

Scientific Fashions

Men On Northern Expedition Are Wearing Latest Winter Clothing

Latest scientific fashions in winter clothing will be worn by the men participating in the Canadian army's "Operation Muskox" as they travel across Canada's northland in their 81-day, 3,100-mile trek.

One of the principal pieces of clothing that will be worn the "driving vest", a new material designed for body-heat control. It was devised by the Norwegians and permits circulation of body heat.

Other clothing includes flannel shirts, moisture-proof bedsheet, parkas, ski caps, woolen "knee-warmers" over khaki underwear and duflie inner boots. Hand protectors of three different types will be issued, one of which is inner gloves that have been treated in a rubber composition to enable personnel to handle fine instruments in the cold.

Women's Rights

Everything Is Unusually Expecting

The Brantford Expositor publishes this rather detached view contained in a letter to The Editor of a weekly Ontario newspaper:

"Did it ever occur to you men who are doing so much cheering about working a few hours what poor, helpless fools you would be if the housewives laid down their brooms and their dish-rags and went on strike for a forty-hour week? ... You men, who are so crazy about unions, why not bring the union into your own homes? You take one shift, the wife another, and the kids take the third. Sounds silly, doesn't it? If you haven't any kids bring in a girl or another woman to take the extra shift. This will take up all the slack in female unemployment. Be sure you pay them union wages. After all, everything seems to be unionized, standardized or controlled, excepting housewives and their labors. Women, you've got the franchise. Why don't you go out while the pot is boiling and get a housewives' union with standard hours and pay and vacations each year, according to service?"

Is the question of women's rights contained in the foregoing? The Brantford paper cannot find a flaw in the logic and remarks that what is "sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander."

As for the drudgery of the home life for so many women, there is also the farmer class, including both men and women, who cannot standardize their hours or shorten their week. Is there a pretty big question opened up by that protest in the weekly paper? — St. Catharines Standard.

Health LEAGUE OF CANADA presents TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST

VALUE OF WHEAT-PRODUCTS

The nutritional values contained in whole wheat are vital to health, it is stated by the Health League of Canada.

In a payroll pamphlet insert issued by the League's Industrial Division in connection with the recent addition of several new posters to its industrial health plan, it is stated that whole wheat bread contains liberal quantities of energy-producing starches, most of the important "B" vitamins, some necessary minerals, and a fair amount of protein to supplement that obtained from animal products.

The pamphlet also advises the eating of liberal quantities of energy foods at breakfast, and states that whole-grain cereals—wheat, oats, corn, barley and rice—are among the best of the energy producers. Another new poster and its accompanying payroll insert advises that nourishing in-between-meal snacks are beneficial to industrial workers. Such snacks result in less fatigue due to monotony and routine, and more energy and improved health and efficiency.

The best time for a light snack is about an hour-and-a-half before lunch and about two hours after lunch. It is stated, however, that the size of the snack and the time it is eaten depend on hours of work at the plant, the type of labor involved and the kind of meals eaten at home.

The pamphlet lists three nourishing snacks—milk and whole-wheat and wheat; whole-wheat doughnut and fruit juice; bran muffin and cocoa. For tasty sandwich fillings—made with whole-wheat bread, lettuce and salad dressing, the following are advocated:

- (1) Cottage cheese, grated raw carrot, chopped green peppers;
- (2) Flaked and boned canned salmon, and green peas;
- (3) Shredded cabbage, chopped parsley, and hard cooked eggs minced;
- (4) Cold meat chopped and diced celery;
- (5) Shredded spinach, ground liver, chopped sweet pickle.

VALUE OF THE WALNUT TREE

The walnut, the old wood of which is brown, veined and shaded, is very valuable for furniture. The unripe fruit is picked and the ripened fruit gives us dessert. The tree also yields an oil used in artists' colors, and a dye for staining light wood brown.

SOMEWHERE in that timeless river of pain, the lieutenant knew that he must have something to cling to, or go under. In another age, another time, there had been much of goodness and beauty to hold to—but now for a long time there was nothing. Then suddenly out of the mist, a face rose before him, smooth hair brushed in shining wings from a high white forehead, violet-shadowed eyes, coral lips faintly parted and cool fragrant fingers.

She laughed at him, teased him, beckoned him, and sometimes there were tears, and once voices: "Quite a boy the lieutenant. He got the D.S.O." And another: "He deserves a bar for what he's been through on this side." Then the first voice: "Well this is the final operation. Everything will be all right after this." But out of the whirling kaleidoscope it was only Dr. Bending and his assistant whose gruff voices merged; she, the girl, was gone. However she came again in the flickering night, and in an enchanted world he talked and she listened and some of the weariness and unreal grogginess seemed to vanish. They danced, and once she slipped and swayed and broke away. And as he turned to follow, his knee hurt into a wall of flame that blacked her out. Then there were gentle hands on his forehead, and the comforting coolness of bandages belied at the flames of pain.

After a while she returned and somewhere in that endless night of pain and shining hair, serene eyes and graceful fingers, he knew he was in love with her, as a man is in love with life. She filled every lonely part of him, all the secret, silent places of his mind and his thoughts, blotting out everything else—even the pain which had hovered over him till now; and for a space he slept. He awoke, lightheaded and languid to the gray dawn, and for the first time he knew that he would live.

Blazing Oil

Threatened A Whole Village When Enemy Planes Scored A Hit Blazing oil, cascading down a hillside, threatened a whole village when one enemy plane attacked the Admiralty fuel oil installation at Pembroke Dock in August, 1940, starting an 18-day fight against the most protracted oil fire of the war. This and other big blazes of the war were recalled by V. J. Wilmoth to fellow members of the Institute of Petroleum. In May 1944 when enemy planes bombed Swanwell oil installation at Falmouth, exploding spirits flowed into a small stream in the valley below imperiling a number of nearby houses.

Cottages were evacuated, barricades of empty drums and earth were built to confine the fiery oil, and the fire was overcome after 21 hours. The Thames Estuary was the scene of a fire which lasted 5½ days. In an enemy air attack on Sept. 6, 1940, an oil tanker at Thames Haven was hit and the fire spread to two other tanks. On the following day in a further attack a direct hit was scored on another large tank. During a third fire, on Sept. 16, an enemy bomb fired yet another tank and this fire lasted for 3½ days. Mr. Wilmoth disclosed that when war began 90 per cent. of Britain's petroleum stocks were stored in some 40 major installations.

"P" IF FOR PROVERBS AND PUDDINGS

According to an old proverb "the proof of the pudding is in the eating" and now is a good time to test the truth of this statement. Every-one's appetite is whetted by the crisp winter air, and the ice cream and sherbets that were so popular in the good old summertime, are taking a back seat in favor of hot puddings and heavier desserts. Cold weather puddings are usually baked or steamed and served hot or warm with your favorite pudding sauce. Steamed fruit puddings are frequently made and stored with the idea of re-steaming later whenever a quick dessert is needed. Here is a mince pudding which you will enjoy at this time of year.

The Cobourg, Ont., Sentinel-Star makes a pertinent point. "We feel that the church ought to be more conscious of the challenge of modern youth than is indicated at the present time. Think of the contribution the church could make to youth, if it would, and what young people could do for the Christian church by exerting their enthusiasm, strength and vitality in that direction. Let our parents, our youth and our churches give careful consideration to the challenge which exists here. The matter is much too important to be neglected."

With the assistance of rehabilitation officers, orders from the M.O., and a natural year for farming, Miss Margaret Hasket, formerly of Simcoe, and Miss Gladys Costen, formerly of Niagara-on-the-Lake, both ex-members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps, have purchased six acres of land on the shores of Lake Ontario and have a very profitable fruit and vegetable farm. The girls were both discharged medically unfit, and were advised by army doctors to try farming. It was primarily on this advice that they started on their business venture. Although the gratuity they had coming was not enough for the purchase price of the farm, the girls invested what they could in the land, and named it the Willow Cove Farm. The farm was purchased last March, and all the planting and other work has been done solely by the two women. Farming experience was supplied by Miss Costen, who has lived on a farm all her life and has many of the answers to planting and harvesting problems. She also drives the truck. Miss Hasket, who has never farmed in her life before, is doing a fine job on the business side of the picture. "We are getting along fine. Why 'only recently we bought a new truck," said Miss Hasket, with a look of pride. "I like farming very much." Both girls were privates, Miss Hasket working in the rationing office and Miss Costen as a driver. Both agree that the farm is the only place to live.

Tribute was paid Mrs. Rippon by the members for her work and for the many pleasant associations gained by the members in working with her.

On Monday evening twelve of her friends gathered at the home of Mrs. A. B. Westworth and surprised her with a farewell and birthday party combined.

Three tables of bridge were in play, honors going to Mrs. S. Murdoch and Miss A. Yuill. A dainty luncheon was served, the table being centred with a beautiful birthday cake decorated with candles.

Miss Yuill presented the honored guest with a very beautiful gift on behalf of the assembled guests and wished her every success in her new home. Mrs. Westworth ably expressed her thanks for the beautiful gift.

TOM SISKI HONORED BY FRIENDS WITH SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY

Tom Siski will long remember his 51st birthday party as one of the most enjoyable and one on which his many friends showed him the esteem in which they held him.

Tom's birthday came on Saturday, Dec. 8, but his friends, fifty strong, decided in order that all could attend they would give him a surprise party on the Sunday afternoon, Dec. 9. That afternoon his daughter, Helen got him to go down to Frank for an hour on some pretense and upon his return home was taken by complete surprise when he entered his home the guests started singing "Happy Birthday."

During the festivities he was presented with a handsome and expensive wrist watch, a gift of his friends assembled. Mr. Siski expressed his sincere thanks for the gift and for the party which had been given in his honor and also the fact that he would long remember their kindness to him.

Mr. Siski wishes to express his thanks to the ladies who provided the handsome birthday cake, decorations for the tables and the beautiful flowers. His sincere thanks also to members of his family and friends for the handsome wrist watch.

MISS PEGGY DEVINE HONORED

While visiting the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Antle recently, Miss Peggy Devine was the guest of honor at a shower given her by her Coleman friends and sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Antle's daughter, Mrs. Laura Rhodes, on Thursday, Nov. 28.

A very pleasant social evening was spent during which Miss Devine was the recipient of numerous beautiful and useful gifts for which she ably expressed her thanks.

Miss Devine expects to leave Canada for Australia in approximately six months time where she will marry her Australian fiancé.

PTE. JOE SIKORA VISITED JOE LIPOVSKI'S MOTHER IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA

Mr. Joe Lipovski last week received a letter from his mother in Czechoslovakia expressing her happiness at receiving a visit from a Canadian soldier, Pte. Joe Sikora, and of hearing that Joe was well and happy in Canada. It is only within the last few weeks that Joe has been able to send or receive letters from his mother for the past six and a half years and he was delighted a few weeks ago to receive a letter from her revealing that she was alive and well despite her sixty-eight years.

Joe also learned that his brothers had been taken by the Germans for slave labor, but that they are now back home with their mother. The letters describe the suffering under the Nazis and the fact that while conditions are only slowly improving they no longer need to walk in fear of their lives.

Pte. Oikora had relatives in the immediate neighborhood in which Mr. Lipovski's mother resided and following a visit with his own relatives he called on Mrs. Lipovski and judging by her letters made her supremely happy by telling her about her son and his family.

Teach The Truth

THERE ARE MANY APPROACHES to the problem of eradicating Nazism from the minds of the German people, and of establishing a sane and humanitarian outlook. While they were in office, Hitler and his followers used every means they could devise to sow seeds of greed, cruelty and hate in the minds of both children and adults, and the task of undoing their evil work is an enormous one. One of the most direct and effective ways of dealing with the problem is through the schools, and work has already started on the re-organization of the German educational system. In the British zone in Germany military authorities have proceeded speedily with arrangements to open schools and secure teachers and textbooks. At the middle of October it was reported that some 6,500 schools had been re-opened, with an attendance of approximately 1,150,000 pupils.

Great Scarcity Of Textbooks

The greatest difficulty in the way of re-organizing the educational system has been in securing suitable textbooks. Books which had been used in the schools during the Nazi regime contained military and Fascist propaganda and were all destroyed by order of the British military authorities. In their place, reprints of pre-1933 textbooks of German authorship were brought back into use, after being carefully examined and found suitable. In spite of the serious paper shortage one million books have already been printed for use in the lower grades in elementary schools. As an experiment, textbooks for teaching English to Hamburg children are being written in Basic English. School broadcasts are used to help fill gaps left by shortages of textbooks, and films are also used for this purpose. Teachers are chosen with great care, and it has been possible to find many who are anxious to undo the harm done by the Nazis, and to teach the new generation of Germans that hate and greed do not pay.

Critical Lack Of Buildings

The shortage of school buildings has also proved a difficult problem and at the beginning of the period of British occupation none were available, all having been destroyed or used for other purposes. Now many have been restored for use, but there is great overcrowding in most districts and often several schools share one building, school hours being "staggered" and classes being held from eight in the morning until eight at night. The teachers are faced with many difficulties. Older children have been taught Nazi principles, and they must be re-educated. Younger children are retarded because of the disorganization caused by air-raids and the general confusion which preceded the collapse of Germany last spring. "Teach The Truth" is the basis of education by the British in Germany, and it is to be hoped that through this, foundations may be laid for a new democratic Germany which will comprehend the values of peaceful living and co-operation with other nations.

SMILE AWHILE

A waitress asked me what I wanted. "I feel like a sandwich," I said. She said, "Just give me your order. Don't blame me if the place is overcrowded."

The optimist believes that the time is ripe.
The pessimist is convinced that it's rotten.

"Aren't you waiting up for Dad tonight, Mother?"
"It's no use. With this cold I can hardly speak."

Haughty Mistress—"I am a woman of few words. If I beckon with my finger, I mean 'come'."
New Maid—"I am a woman of few words, too. If I shake my head I mean I ain't coming."

"Did you say that any incompetent man could run an hotel?"
"No, I said that an inexperienced man could."

An Old Problem

How To Open Sardine Cans Is Puzzling British People
Britain is obtaining 28,000,000 tins of sardines from Spain, and the old problem of how to open a can of sardines has reappeared in post-war form. Letters in the newspapers have raised the question why, in this modern age, someone does not invent an easy method of getting sardines out of the can. During the war, when sardines were scarce, the tins were often distributed without the key which is intended for opening them.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—Where do I apply for a permit for a new automobile?
A.—You apply to the nearest office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Permits are given on a priority system.

Q.—I am living in a hotel for the winter months and eat my meals at nearby restaurants. What should I do with my ration coupons?

A.—After four weeks' residence in a quota users establishment, under which category hotels fall, the management is required to collect the guest's ration book. When you move from the hotel, your ration book will be returned to you.

Q.—I am a farmer and selling turkeys direct to the consumer. What price may I charge for them?

A.—Under present regulations the primary producer (yourself) cannot sell turkeys direct to the consumer at a price which would be above that charged by retail shops according to grade.

Q.—I am a farmer, do I have to collect coupons when I sell meat to my farmer neighbour?

A.—Yes. Farmers who slaughter livestock must collect meat coupons for all the meat they sell. If meat is sold to other farmers, the rate is one coupon for every four lbs. of meat even if it is necessary to collect coupons not yet declared valid. These coupons must be forwarded to the local ration board at the end of each month in R.B. 61 envelope provided for that purpose.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumers' News" or the Blue Book in which you keep track of your ceiling prices, mentioning the name of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

CHRISTIANITY

Christianity is not a theory or speculation, but a life; not a philosophy of life, but a life and a living process.—Coleridge.

A wise man will always be a Christian, because the perfection of wisdom is to know where lies tranquility of mind, and how to attain it, which Christianity teaches.—Lander.

Christianity is the companion of liberty in all its conflicts—the cradle of its infancy, and the divine source of its claims.—De Toqueville.

He who shall introduce into public affairs the principles of primitive Christianity will change the face of the world.—Benjamin Franklin.

Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father.—Christ Jesus (John 14:12).

WORK ESSENTIAL TO SECURITY GEORGE W. SPINNEY DECLARES

GENERAL MANAGER B. C. GARDNER REVIEWS MOST ACTIVE YEAR AT 128TH ANNUAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS—DISCUSSES CUSTOMER RELATIONS

Montreal.—"Government can distribute no benefits that individuals, through their labour, do not provide," George W. Spinney, president of the Bank of Montreal told shareholders at their 128th annual meeting recently. He expressed the opinion that Canadians would continue to expect more in the way of government facilities and assistance in the future than they did before the war and made it clear that he felt there was a place in our economy for such measures "if they are soundly conceived and wisely administered."

Speaking at the same meeting, B. C. Gardner, general manager, said the bank had passed through its most active year and outlined economic developments in Canada and other countries as they were likely to affect the future of the Dominion's senior banking institution.

Mr. Spinney told the shareholders nothing was further from his intent than to argue that social security measures were without value in the community, but added that "life on this planet being what it is, someone has to plough and reap, to plan and build, to exercise qualities of initiative, foresight and daring; and only this totality of productive effort can provide a real and enduring basis for material welfare and economic security."

"I see no reason to believe," he said, "that there can ever evolve an economic system so ingeniously contrived that everyone will have a high living standard and social security provided for him as a matter of right whether he works hard or not."

Inflationary Pressures Great

In a review of the broad situation facing Canadians at the start of the long-talented-about post-war period, Mr. Spinney said that this Dominion possessed many advantages in recovering from wartime to peacetime operations. Of considerable importance in this regard is the fact that this country was spared the actual physical devastation of war. He urged that voluntary restraint be continued to offset inflationary pressures which were a greater danger today than at any time during the war and, while admitting the desirability of maintaining certain controls, said they should be subject to constant scrutiny.

Mr. Spinney noted that during the past seven years the Bank of Montreal, which showed a profit of $2,934,000 last year, had provided more than $19,500,000 for Dominion and Provincial Government loans and added that, although the cost of doing business was a greater upward trend, during this period, cost of banking service to the public had not been increased.

In referring to the place of the bank in the community the president stated "risk-free banking is hardly banking at all" and said the policy of the Bank of Montreal was to make lending facilities as broadly available as possible.

Palace Of Soviets To Be Higher Than Empire State Building

The Palace of the Soviets in Moscow, now under construction again after a delay of four years, will be higher and also greater in many ways than any previous structure in existence today. While the Empire State Building contains 60,000 tons of steel in its frame, has 67 elevators and is 102 stories high, the Palace will contain 360,000 tons of steel in its frame, will have 148 elevators, and 62 escalators and will be 112 stories high when it is topped by its 28-foot statue of Lenin.—From Collier's.

CANADIAN FARMERS TOOK A REDUCTION IN INCOME FOR THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF THIS YEAR

OTTAWA.—Canadian farmers took a $62,000,000 reduction in income for the first six months of this year compared with the same period of 1944 and predictions were that farm income for the whole year would be "moderately below" that of last year's record $764,000,000.

The quarterly bulletin of agricultural statistics issued by the Dominion bureau of statistics Saturday said cash income from the sale of farm products in Canada for the first six months of 1945 was $702,000,000 compared with approximately $764,000,000 in the same period last year. And except for a small amount in Nova Scotia, the three prairie provinces accounted for all the decrease.

The largest decrease in income was $51,000,000 in Saskatchewan, followed by a decrease of $25,000,000 in Alberta and $14,000,000 decrease in Manitoba compared with 1944 farm income figures.

The bulletin said these declines were offset in part by increases in other provinces.

Decreases in prairie farm incomes were chiefly due to "reductions in marketing of wheat and hogs during the first half of 1945," the bulletin said. "However, increased marketing, chiefly of cattle and calves and of oats, helped to offset part of the decline."

"The prospect of a reduced production of field crop indicates that marketings from this source during the last six months of 1945 will be substantially lower than during the last half of 1944," the bulletin said.

"Income from livestock products may not change greatly as the expected decline in sales of hogs may be offset by heavier marketings of cattle and calves."

"Thus, with a lower income already established for the first six months of the year, it seems probable that the income of Canadian farmers in 1945 will be moderately below the record year of 1944."

VISIT UNLIKELY

Princess Elizabeth's Trip To Canada Regarded As Inappropriate Now

LONDON.—Reports that Princess Elizabeth will shortly visit Canada and U.S.A. are now discounted here. Such a visit is regarded as inappropriate in view of the shipping situation. It is felt, also, that it might involve the risk of criticism on the grounds that many soldiers' wives and families are awaiting passage.

Public reaction to the suggestion concerning the visit apparently have been studied both at Buckingham Palace and by the Labor government.

Among the Labor leaders there seems to be a difference of opinion as to whether it is wise at present to build up the princess in a role comparable to that of Empire saleswoman played by Edward when heir to the throne. At the moment, however, it is understood that the opinion of Labor is that the risk is great that a visit of the princess to U.S.A. might be construed as an attempt to influence negotiations at Washington and Ottawa which are necessary for British reconstruction.

SAYS TRADE BARRIERS THAT STOP FLOW OF FARM PRODUCTS BETWEEN CANADA-U.S. MUST GO

OTTAWA.—Agriculture Minister Gardiner told the Dominion-provincial agricultural conference that "too little attention" was being paid to war-induced trade barriers that hamper agricultural production and restrict the flow of farm products between Canada and the United States.

Addressing the concluding session of the annual conference, Mr. Gardiner said:

"The future of agriculture requires that all these restrictions and artificial levels be removed as the earliest possible date. In my opinion, future policies of production and marketing should be governed by the assumption that they will be removed."

"Otherwise, what is the use of this continent presuming to give leadership to the world on mutual assist-

SHOWS A DECLINE

Wool Production Down Owing To Fewer Sheep On Farms

OTTAWA.—Pure wool socks, sweaters, gloves, and other clothing popular with most members of the family are still going to be difficult to buy even though the war is now over.

Reason for this is that Canada is anticipating a reduction in the number of sheep on farms next year, and that means a decline in wool production. Manufacturers state the production of woollen garments for the civilian trade has been somewhat better since the cessation of hostilities, but the available supply is far short of the demand.

Even though a large number of woollen garments and a large amount of wool for manufacturing purposes is imported, there is still a serious shortage in Canada. A drop in this country's wool production will not help the situation.

Marketings of sheep in Canada are expected to total 1,100,000 head in 1946, a reduction, of 100,000 below the 1945 estimate. The shorn wool production is expected to amount to 12,000,000 pounds, compared with an anticipated clip this year of 14,600,000 pounds.

WILL MAKE SURVEY

Federal Department Of Health Plans Preventive Program For Blindness

OTTAWA.—Health Minister Claxton announced in the commons that his department is undertaking a survey of the medical records of all blind persons in Canada in an effort to determine the most common causes of blindness and to map a preventative program.

Mr. Claxton made the disclosure when his departmental estimates came before the house. He said plans were being prepared for the national laboratory which the department is to build, but it will be some time before actual construction starts.

In organizing the department, which was created a year ago, an effort was made to establish a close personal relationship with provincial health ministers and with other individuals and groups concerned with health.

PRICE INCREASES

Authorized On Primes And Raisins Imported From California

OTTAWA.—Price increases have been authorized on the sale of the new crop of imported California prunes and raisins which came on the market during the next few weeks, the price board announced.

There has been a substantial increase in California prices since 1944 and the decision has been taken to pass on a portion of this increase to the board said. Prices to consumers will be about 2½ cents per pound higher, but considerably below the increases which have occurred in the United States.

NAVY WEEK—Navy Week was inaugurated by an address by Lord Cunningham of Hyndhope, Britain's first sea lord, who, as commander of the Royal Navy's Mediterranean fleet, has been somewhat better since the cessation of hostilities, but the available supply is far short of the demand.

MAY BE SCRAPPED

Some Ships Of British Royal Navy Are Now Obsolete

LONDON.—Veteran battleships, cruisers, destroyers and submarines of Britain's navy, which have made naval history in two wars but now are obsolete, will probably be scrapped shortly, an admiralty spokesman said.

The spokesman added that although no official lists of the "condemned" ships had been issued, there was a strong possibility that some of the First Great war battleships of the "R" class—which includes the Ramilies (laid down in 1916), the Renown (1916), the Resolution (1916) and the Revenge (1915), have reached the age groups likely to be "demobilized" with hundreds of other war vessels.

Some of the country's 15 battleships have been reduced to the "unmaintained" reserve class; two of them are likely to be used as accommodation ships and one as a training ship. The training ship is likely to be the veteran Warspite.

NAMES MENTIONED

Three Suggested As Possibilities For Secretary-General Of U.N.O.

LONDON.—Three names are being mentioned here as possibilities for the post of secretary-general of the United Nations organization which will come into operation on a permanent basis next month. They are General Eisenhower, American chief of staff; Anthony Eden former British foreign secretary and Lester B. Pearson, Canadian ambassador to Washington.

If the headquarters of the organization are established in the United States, as now appears likely, the key job of secretary-general, according to opinion of members of the United Nations conference, is not likely to go to an American.

MORE HUMANE USE

BERKELEY, Calif.—The University of California cyclotron will be diverted from helping to develop military devices to a peacetime war on cancer and other malignant diseases, authorities said. Radioactive substances similar in some respects to those employed in atomic bombs may be used to combat cancer.

ATOMIC POWER

Estimate It Will Be In Use In From Ten To Twenty Years

NEW YORK.—Nine leaders in the atomic bomb project estimated variously that possibly in three or almost certainly in 20 years the United States could have atomic power capable of competing with $15-a-ton coal.

In an extraordinary symposium, held on the spotlighted stage of the Hotel Grand ballroom, the scientists outlined in detail before the 50th annual convention of the National Association of Manufacturers the possibilities of harnessing the atom for peacetime use.

Maj.-Gen. L. R. Groves, director of the bomb development, was top man in guessing "how soon." He placed his estimate in "decades."

Immediately, several of his assistants declared he was "too pessimistic." Dr. Charles Thomas, vice-president of the Monsanto Chemical Company, estimated 10 years would do it. Dr. J. A. Wheeler, professor of nuclear physics at Princeton university, declared the goal could be realized in from three to 10 years under ideal circumstances.

Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard university, acting as moderator, drew forth these answers in response to the specific question: "How long will it take to develop an atomic 100,000-kilowatt-hour power plant that can compete with one run by coal costing $15 a ton?"

All nine agreed that the time could be shortened if more expensive coal was taken as a base.

Other points stressed by the atomic heads were that:

The problem of producing atomic heat has been solved at the big Hanford plant in Washington state.

One of the major difficulties will be to protect the users of atomic power from radio-active harm.

The protective devices must be so heavy that an atomic 100-kilowatt-hour power plant would weigh 50 tons, thereby ruling out use in automobiles and present airplanes.

Some believe atomic power could be used to run railroad locomotives, others feel ocean-going steamships would be the smallest vehicles in which such use would be feasible. Atomic by-products have been developed that may result in revolutionary advances in the medical and chemical fields, possibly throwing light on the origin of life itself.

SELF-RULE FOR INDIA

Will Be Granted As Soon As A Suitable Constitution Is Adopted

LONDON.—The British government reaffirmed its promise of self-rule for India, but warned simultaneously that it would resist any attempt to resolve the issue by force.

In a statement of policy read in both houses of parliament, the Labor government promised to turn the reins over to the Indians when a suitable constitution is adopted. But establishment of a continued assembly can scarcely be contemplated before the Indian elections next spring, the statement said.

Meanwhile, a non-partisan parliamentary committee will be sent to India immediately to make independent observations and to draft unofficial recommendations to the British government.

The statement said it was important that members of the British government have an opportunity to meet Indian political leaders and learn from their first-hand account the committee would be sponsored by the Empire Parliamentary Association.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT IS WILLING TO REDUCE TARIFFS WITH ADEQUATE COMPENSATION

LONDON.—Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Commons that the British government was willing to reduce or eliminate preferences provided there was "adequate compensation" in the form of reduced tariffs and general improvement of world trading conditions.

Addressing the house on the terms of the $1,400,000,000 loan to Britain by the United States, the prime minister emphasized "points to be noted," including the "question of tariff preference." This, he said, is "of essential interest and importance to the British Commonwealth and Empire."

"The American document," Mr. Attlee said, "sets forth the procedure to be followed by common consent in considering in context of a general lowering of tariffs and other trade barriers, what contributions can be made from our side by way of reduction or elimination of preferences."

"We, for our part, are ready to agree that the existing system of preferences within the British Commonwealth and Empire will be contracted, provided there is adequate compensation in the form of improvement in trading conditions between the Commonwealth and Empire countries and the rest of the world."

The document, Mr. Attlee said, recognizes this fundamental fact: "It is essential to clear the obstacles to our exports of manufactured goods without abandoning the right to control our imports, so long as this is essential to our balance of international trade."

Mr. Attlee said that in negotiations for reduction of tariffs the "parties concerned will not refuse to discuss modification of particular preferences on the ground these are subject to prior commitments."

"On the contrary all margins of preference will be regarded as open to negotiation."

"It is recognized that reduction or elimination of preferences can only be considered in relation to and in return for reduction of tariffs and other barriers to world trade in general."

Mr. Attlee said it was hoped that at an international conference which is proposed for next summer "these negotiations will be completed on a full international basis and an international trade organization can be brought into being."

The house received the announcement with only a murmur of applause when Mr. Attlee rose and in almost complete silence when he finished.

But a series of questions were being asked by the prime minister by members asking if the agreement was a return to the gold standard. Others asked why the Bretton Woods international monetary agreements must be signed by Dec. 31.

Mr. Attlee said the members should study the documents. The agreement would be debated this week.

LACK OF MATERIALS

VANCOUVER.—The Vancouver Daily Province in a newspaper story said that "there are, by the best estimates, considerably more than 1,000 houses—potential homes for at least 4,000 men, women and children—standing unfinished in Vancouver today for lack of materials."

THE UNITED STATES HAS CONCLUDED NEGOTIATIONS FOR BIG LOAN TO GREAT BRITAIN

LONDON.—London morning newspapers said that the United States and Great Britain had concluded negotiations for a loan of $1,400,000,000 to Britain.

The Daily Herald, Labor, in reporting that an agreement had been reached in Washington on the loan, said repayment of the loan will be over a 20-year period starting from 1946, but no interest will be payable for the first five years.

During the remaining period, the Herald said, the rate of interest will be two per cent, or about $88,000,000 for the first year.

The Daily Sketch, the Daily Mail and the News Chronicle also published special despatches from Washington and New York stating the loan agreement had been reached.

The Sketch said the loan "will ease Britain's winter" and "termed the money a 'Magna Carta for world trade.'"

The Daily Mail said "A jog has been given to world trade by the great deal."

The Mail said the long and detailed document, listing the terms of the loan, included a provision that Britain would towards a reduction of the sterling debt and dissolution of the sterling pool. Another provision, the Mail said, was that Britain join the United States in a long-range plan to reduce tariffs and eliminate quotas and restrictions on world trade.

Another provision of the agreement, the Daily Herald said, calls for British support of the Bretton Woods international monetary plan.

"The international monetary conference held at Bretton Woods, N.H., in July, 1944, called for an international stabilization fund of $8,800,000,000 with the following quotas for major powers: United States, $2,750,000,000; Britain, $1,200,000,000; Russia, $1,200,000,000; China, $500,000,000; France, $450,000,000. Canada was asked to put up $300,000,000."

The Herald expressed the opinion that the new arrangement will not prevent an expansion of trade within the Commonwealth, but will enable the Dominions to make immediate essential purchases in the United States. The loan must be approved by congress.

EXTRA TROOP SHIPS

LONDON.—The Duchess of Bedford have been added to ships carrying Canadian servicemen home from the United Kingdom during December, Canadian military headquarters announced. Each vessel can carry approximately 3,000 men.

"BUTCHER OF WARSAW" ARRIVES IN U.S.—The "Butcher of Warsaw," Col. Josef Albert Meisinger, has been brought from Tokyo to United States. He arrived in Washington from San Francisco.
